Pres. Eisenhower Joins His Gettysburg Neighbors In Heralding Opening Of Lincoln Sesquicentennial Year

ABRAHAM LINCOLN 16th President of the United States

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON

February 10, 1959

Dear Mr. Roy:

The Gettysburg Times has a special interest in observing the 150th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

It was here, in our community, that the climactic battle of the tragic war between Americans took place. It was here that Lincoln defined with utmost simplicity the Nation's goals. These were to secure for all time our government "of the people, by the people, for the people."

In advancing toward these goals, I am honored to join my neighbors in Gettysburg and across the land -- and in every land where human freedom is honored around the world.

A young scientist was confronted by a problem for which he could find no answer in reference books or the experience of his associates. Left to his own resources, he worked out a possible solution and obtained permission to, test it. Later, deeply discouraged, he reported to his research director that the idea had failed.

"I thought it would," was the the reply, "but there was a chance of success, and it was worth the effort. Don't think of it as a failure. We have learned something . . . a way which won't work. Now let's try to find one that will."

The worst possible result of failure is defeatism. There are few pains as grievous, Nietzsche observed, as an exceptional man who has missed his way, and deteriorated. History is laden with the examples of men who, having failed, tried again . . . with achievements which brought lasting benefits to mankind. Tragically, countless similar benefits have been lost because those who could have made them possible surrendered to despair.

From time to time, all of use called on to listen to tales of woe in which men recount the ill-fortune of their ventures. Sometimes these ventures have deserved failure, because badly conceived or carelessly managed. Often, however, the result is a disheartening return for men who planned well and worked-

1809: Governors David L. Lawrence, Of Pennsylvania, Albert B. Chandler, Of Kentucky, 1959: William G. Stratton, Of Illinois, Honor Memory Of Martyred Abraham Lincoln

February 12, 1959

Mr. Paul L. Roy Editor, The Gettysburg Times Gettysburg, Pennsylvar'

Dear Mr. Roy:

It is with pride as an American and as a Pennsylvanian that I send my greetings to the people of Gettysburg as they observe today the sesquicentennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. No other man in our history so fully embodies the spirit of democracy and self-government.

Lincoln's association with Pennsylvania was particularly close. His ancestors migrated westward from a homestead in Berks County; the Keystone State gave him as President the loyal support which made possible the preservation of the Union in its time of crisis, and it was at Gettysburg that he spoke the few earnest words which have become the classic expression of American idealism.

In the disturbing times in which we live today, it is particularly appropriate that the 150th anniversary of Lincoln's birth should refresh our memory of him and of the principles for which he stood. We are today imperatively called upon to take "increased devotion" to the cause "that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, should not perish from the earth."

Mr. Paul L. Roy, Editor THE GETTYSBURG TIMES Gettysburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Roy:

With pride in the memory of one of its greatest native sons -- Abraham Lincoln -- the Commonwealth of Kentucky joins Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, in opening the Lincoln Sesquicentennial Year.

Lincoln's life began in a humble log cabin near the present site of Hodgenville, Kentucky. The glorious climax of this life was reached when he stood on the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and dedicated it to the soldiers who had died to keep the Union intact -- soldiers inspired by Lincoln's determination and valour.

Kentucky is rich in Lincoln lore and is reverently inviting the rest of the nation to visit scenes of Lincoln's boyhood. We have many memorials to him. The best known perhaps is the stately memorial housing the log cabin at

We also have a State park, Lincoln Homestead, named for him. Here there is a replica of his grandmother's cabin and a cabin where lived his mother, Nancy Hanks. At Harrodsburg, the first white settlement in Kentucky, is the Lincoln Marriage Temple, housing the cabin where the 16th President's father, who was killed by an Indian.

The Commonwealth of Kentucky, as well as Gettysburg, is celebrating throughout this 150th anniversary year of Lincoln's birth. ### The National Museum

In the shadow of the Soldiers' National Monument in the Gettysburg National Cemetery dedicated by Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth President of the United States, is proud of its heritage as custodian of thousands of Civil War relics and mementoes which reflect the glory and gallantry of the courageous armies of the North and South . . . joins hands today with tens of thousands of Americans in commemorating the 150th anniversary of the great Emancipator and looks forward toward a glorious year of recognition for the man who preserved the Union.

Imprint Of Four Years: These two pictures are of paintings done by the same artist of Abraham Lincoln after he won the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1860 and of President Lincoln after his renomination in 1864. Artist was George Frederick Wright. The paintings are owned by the University of Chicago.

Grease Soup First Meal

Lincoln Ate

Abraham Lincoln's first meal consisted of turkey grease soup, nothing more.

One story surrounding the birth of the 16th President tells how. as a new baby, he was saved from death by a neighbor seeking refuge from a blizzard.

The winter of 1809 is said to have been extremely cold in Kentucky. February 11 and 12 were bleak blizzardy days and the snow had drifted so badly experienced woodsmen became bewildered in the Kentucky forest. One native of the Central Kenucky area, half dead from cold and shock, stumbled about noon into a little log cabin not far from Hodgenville. Soon the man realized he was in Tom Lincoln's home and the coals in the fireplace were only slightly glowing. Hearing a groan from the corner he turned and saw Nancy Lincoln and her daughter Sarah in bed. Mrs. Lincoln asked the man not to worry about them but to see about her new boy baby at the foot of the bed on the tick of straw. Examining the baby, the man found him discolored by the Associated Press Special Service severe cold and near starvation.

GEORGE EARP'S BY BEN BURROUGHS NAME CHOSEN

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) - There aren't many men around anymore who can claim, like George Earp. that their names were chosen by Abraham Lincoln.

George, now a healthy and alert 94 years old, is a first cousin of famed frontier Marshal Wyatt Earp and once was a deputy under Wyatt.

George told reporter Tom Osterloh of the Joplin Globe Wednesday how he got his name from the 16th president of the United States.

Earp Was Freed

George Earp's father, the Rev. John Douglas Earp, first met Lincoln in Kentucky where both were employed splitting rails. They became good friends and later moved to Illinois at the same time.

The Rev. Mr. Earp then moved to Lamar, Mo., and became a circuit preacher for the Southern Methodist Church.

Lincoln was president when Earp was imprisoned on charges he supported the Confederacy. The President ordered him re-

MR. DAIRYMAN:

Mojonnier Bros. Company of Chicago, Ill., announces a Direct Factory Franchise on Mojonnier Vacuum & Standard Bulk Coolers to farmers in the Franklin, Fulton and Adams

This Agency is under the Management of Alton L. Book of 427 S. 7th St., Chambersburg, Pa., a Penna. Approved Milk Inspector and a former Milk Plant Manager. The experience of this Agency should be an aid to all milk producers, since every qualification confirming to Mojonnier Standards has been met Arrangements include personally supervised installations, field calibration, and a complete line of parts to be carried in stock, as designated by Mojonnier.

For the Dairyman's protection we deem several qualified refrigeration centers advisable. The following have been selected by Mojonnier for refrigeration service: Shank's Ref. Service, Marion, Pa. — Hays Ref. Service, Chambersburg, Pa. — Harold F. Wallace, Ref. & Elec. Service, McConnellsburg, Pa. — Plank's Ref. Service, Gettysburg, Pa.

A trained Mojonnier field repairman, equipped with mobile field repair shop, is available on call to our Philadelphia office, through our Agency. This Franchise brings to your area a similiar factory connection as available to producers in the Baltimore and Washington markets, which has proven as a sound, profitable proposition for dairymen at Mojonnier Direct Factory Price.

Have our Mojonnier Agency visit your farm. Phone Chambersburg CO 3-2122.

Bananas In Bunches

Merchandising was in tune with the most modern methods for the times. Fruits and vegetables were piled high, on benches or on the sidewalks, sometimes even on the street. Bananas hung in bunches by the door.

But Norris Minter kept changing with the times and when he retired in 1936, the present partnership took over the business and kept up the tradition of keeping abreast of the changing trends in grocery selling and enlargement to accommodate an expanding business volume.

Gone are the once widely used paper bags, except for a few items of fresh produce. Modern processor packaged foods grace the multiplicity of shelves in the present Minter's store. But the sea foods and fresh fruits and vegetables which were the founder's pride continue to be featured. Frozen Foods

Another touch, unknown in 1916, is the business of frozen foods. Minter's stocks a variety of these along with many items in cans and ready-mix packages for cakes and pies, items also undreamed of when the store was

"FLY-BY-DAY"

Permit us to caution you against the "fly-by-day" salesman. This species operates in broad daylight, but he moves on to new territory with amazing speed. He's the door-to-door fellow who peddles "therapeutic" bargains. His offerings might range from all-purpose vitamins to highly touted cure-alls. Fantastic claims pour from him in torrents. He is interested in a quick commission sale, not in your health. If you think you need medical help, consult a physician.

in bed, and keeping him happy is often a problem.

First, the child should be kept warm and quiet. If he is to be propped up in bed, provide a warm sweater to cover his arms. shoulders, and chest. Chilling frequently occurs when the child begins to move around in bed and pushes the covers back.

For the older child, a simple jigsaw puzzle will keep him occupied and happy for some time. Another activity for the child is drawing with paper and crayons Encourage the child to draw any thing he remembers. Or when he is a bit older, set up a still-life arrangement for him to draw Give him a bed table or lapboard to make drawing easier.

ARAB WOMEN SHOW SIGNS OF EMANCIPATION

teen-age Jordanian girls walked together down a main street in Amman humming a tune from a Hollywood musical as they threaded their way past street peddlers, donkeys and men in flowing robes.

They wore their hair in ponytails. Each had ballet slippers on her feet. Clearly they would have blended easily into any high school crowd in the United States.

In a sense these three girls are living symbols of a growing social change in the Arab Middle East more meaningful in the long run than all the confused political events of the past summer.

For they represent the awakening of Arab womanhood. Not for them the veil, the arranged marriage or the sharing of a husband with other wives.

Tiny Minority

Such independent-minded girls still are a tiny minority in Jordans' traditional Arab social structure. But their numbers are growing. There were none at all 10
